Description of Advertising
Advertising aims to educate students about the role of advertising, public relations and marketing communication in business and in the social and economic orders. The advertising department seeks to acquaint students with advertising in a variety of contexts and from a number of different viewpoints. It attempts to explain why businesses and others use advertising as a form of communication; how advertising affects the mass media; how advertising is used by consumers in making buying decisions; how advertising is controlled and regulated; and what effects advertising has on the economy. People who work in advertising include artists, statisticians, writers, psychologists, salespeople, researchers, designers, managers, account planners, analysts, and others. Studying advertising will not train the student in any one of the specialized skill areas, but will give the students an overall understanding of how these skills are brought together and used to help solve advertising communication problems.

Additional Career Consultant Recommendations:

Knowledge/Skills Needed in Advertising

- Students interested in the accounts and management side of advertising should consider taking at least one course in marketing, business management, accounting, and/or finance. Try to become proficient in Excel before you graduate.
- Gain practical experience in problem solving, customer service, marketing, writing, management and sales.
- Gain persuasion skills through sales and learn how to sell your ideas.
- Demonstrate enthusiasm, interpersonal skills, teamwork, integrity, organizational and communication skills, and good judgment.
- For students interested in the creative side of advertising, develop and strengthen art skills, creativity and initiative.
- Gain experience with social media marketing using platforms such as Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram. Become proficient in social media analytics by using Hootsuite.
- More students are becoming proficient in online advertising services such as Google AdWords.
- Get experience with a variety of software programs, including Adobe Photoshop, InDesign, Photo Mechanic, Apple - Final Cut Pro X, Audacity and SoundSlides. Additionally, Dreamweaver, Macromedia Flash, Adobe Premiere Pro, Avid, and Fireworks are also very useful in the multimedia industry.
- Consider enrolling in New Media Certificate courses to gain understanding and proficiency in digital media such as the Internet, websites, computer multimedia, and social media. For more information, visit http://mynmi.net/certificate/
- Create a portfolio of writing samples, ad campaigns, marketing strategies, graphics and ideas. Making an online portfolio is a good way to market your skills for job opportunities by using websites such as www.behance.net/, http://cargocollective.com/, www.issuu.com/, and http://wordpress.com.

Campus Involvement, Domestic Field Study and Study Abroad Opportunities

- Participate in organizations such as the Ad Club and Talking Dog Advertising, a student-run, full service advertising agency.
- Members of UGA's Ad Club travel to Chicago and New York for an advertising agency tour every fall. In the past, the group made stops at DDB, Digital Kitchen, Ogilvy, Leo Burnett, and McGarry Bowen to name a few.
- Join the American Marketing Association at UGA to gain knowledge in marketing strategies and research. Also, you will gain practical experience in applying social and digital marketing techniques with local and national businesses.
- Students interested in pursuing careers in the creative industry are encouraged to enroll in Summer at the Circus, a partnership between Grady College and Creative Circus in Atlanta http://www.summeratthecircus.com/. Creative Circus is one of the top portfolio schools in the country, offering programs in Art Direction, Copywriting, Design, Image, Interactive Design and several other areas. Find more information at http://www.creativecircus.edu/.
- Participate in the UGA Global Advertising and PR Program in China, and learn about brand communication http://china-studyabroad.uga.edu/.
- Consider attending the Cannes Lions International Festival of Creativity which allows students to witness thousands of ads from around the world being showcased and judged. This opportunity also allows students to network with producers, directors, and actors who have starred in motion pictures http://cannslions-studyabroad.uga.edu/.

Additional Internship/Job Search Tips

- For additional information on internships and job opportunities, look out for emails sent every Monday on the Grady Career Services Update listserv. If you are not on that listserv, please email Cecil Bentley at cbentley@uga.edu or call or (706) 542-4993.
- If you’re interested in working or interning for a specific company, visit that company’s website. Job and internship opportunities are usually listed under the “Careers” tab. For a complete list of advertising agencies and PR firms, visit http://grady.uga.edu/AdPR/agencies.
