Description of Journalism with a Magazines Emphasis
(Source: University of Georgia Bulletin, http://www.bulletin.uga.edu/)

The Magazine Journalism emphasis trains students to tell stories interestingly, effectively and ethically in print and digital formats. Students learn how to write, edit, design, publish and manage multimedia publications, and publish their work in national and regional publications in addition to The Red & Black, UGAzine and GradyJournal.com.

Additional Career Consultant Recommendations:

Knowledge/Skills Needed in Magazines Journalism

- Demonstrate creativity, verbal ability, writing skills, and proofreading ability.
- Work for The Red and Black, UGAzine, Pandora, Infusion Magazine or other on-campus publications to strengthen writing skills. Gain experience in a variety of positions, including reporting, layout, and editing.
- Volunteer to produce a newsletter for a club or nonprofit group.
- Never stop writing. When editors review your resume, they prefer to see consistent writing experience over a period of time.
- Complete an internship in publications, public relations, or marketing.
- Gain experience with social media marketing using platforms such as Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram. Become proficient in social media analytics by using HootSuite.
- “Students may want to consider smaller newspaper publications that offer broader opportunities for beginning reporters. Larger newspapers are typically more interested in entry-level applicants with many internship experiences and specialty reporting skills. Young reporters can benefit from gaining close community contacts and skills working in a smaller news market.” Excerpt from USA Today article “5 tips for job-seeking journalism students” written by Alex Spiess
- Strengthen your multimedia skills by gaining experience with photography, editing, web design or video production.
- Get experience with a variety of software programs, including InDesign, Photoshop, QuarkExpress, Excel and Publisher.
- Consider enrolling in New Media Certificate courses to gain understanding and proficiency in digital media such as the Internet, websites, computer multimedia, and social media. For more information, visit http://mynmi.net/certificate/.
- Compile a portfolio of writing samples, ad campaigns, design layouts, and other relevant work. Making an online portfolio is a good way to market your skills and work samples for job opportunities by using websites such as www.behance.net/, www.issuu.com/, http://paper.li/ and http://wordpress.com.
- “Freelance for the local paper, update news and events for the town blog, anything. The last thing an editor wants to see on a resume is an extended time gap where you had nothing published.” – Newsday reporter Bill Bleyer

Campus Involvement and Study Abroad Opportunities

- Join the Magazine Club and Online News Association / Society of Professional Journalists to hear advice from guest speakers.
- Students interested in pursuing careers in the creative industry are encouraged to enroll in Summer at the Circus, a partnership between Grady College and Creative Circus in Atlanta http://www.summeratthecircus.com/. Creative Circus is one of the top portfolio schools in the country, offering programs in Art Direction, Copywriting, Design, Image, Interactive Design and several other areas. Find more information at http://www.creativecircus.edu/.
- Participate in the Travel Writing in Prague study abroad program to write and report on in-depth travel stories and build a multimedia portfolio http://www.grady.uga.edu/prague.

Additional Internship/Job Search Tips

- For additional information on internships and job opportunities, please look out for emails sent every Monday on the Grady Career Services listserv. If you are not on that listserv, please email Cecil Bentley at cbentley@uga.edu or call or (706) 542-4993.
- If you’re interested in working or interning for a specific company, please visit that company’s website. Job and internship opportunities are usually listed under the “Careers” tab.
